

Just like your baby brother or sister, dogs like to put just about everything in their mouths. That means that their mouths are not always the cleanest places.

Dogs can pick up all kinds of germs. And without meaning to, dogs can pass them on to you.

You can be a responsible pet owner by teaching your dog not to give you kisses on the face. Don't let your dog eat off your plate or drink out of your cup. Always remember to wash your hands with soap and warm water after you play with your dog or touch his food dish.
